postcards

The very beginning of sending postcards can be traced back to XIX-th century England. This is where around 1843 the first postcard is reported to have been sent. Henry Cole is thought to be the originator of the idea who wanted to send his friends seasonal greetings in a more simplified and not that time-consuming manner as writing letters was.

walnuts

Walnuts placed on a Christmas table have always symbolized mistery, wealth, wisdom and fertility. As is often the case, there is some truth to every superstition. Walnuts are a very rich source of E vitamin. Eating them improves memory and concentration and effectively fights anxieties and sorrows. Some people believe that eating walnuts on Christmas Eve will protect us from toothache and toothloss.

wood

Wood has been a vital part of human life since the very beginning. Forests have been the source of firewood and were used to make primary tools and arms.

Italian Venice situated on 118 swampy Adriatic islets was built using millions of oak, larch and olm poles driven into the sea bottom.

Madeira, island well-known as the birthplace of Cristiano Ronaldo has been named by its discoverers (João Gonçalves Zarco and Tristão Vaz Teixeira) Ilha Madeira which means The Wood Island.

wood

Its origin, the way it is obtained and physical properties make wood the most environmental friendly big-scale production raw material. Forests are one of the most vital foundations of ecological safety and our future existence.

FSC® or Forest Stewardship Council® is the organization which promotes responsible management of world's forests. It certifies forests and all kinds of wood and paper products.

If you buy a FSC product you may be sure that it has been made using wood from a forest where more trees are planted than cut.

glass

It's one of the most environment-friendly materials. It's 100% recyclable with no limit set to it. As soon as collected it's turned in glass cullet which is the base for making new products.

However it should be borne in mind that when unbroken and unprocessed glass is mixed with other nonsegregated refuse it becomes an ecological hazard.

Glass decay time is more than 4000 years, which is confirmed by glass bead finds dated back to 2000 B.C. Some experts claim that glass never decays which brings us to the conclusion how vital is its proper segregation and further multiple processing.

Biodegradables are in other words products that decay while composting and do not produce any toxic substances.

Such products are as a rule made from polymers that occur in nature just as for example a corn starch bag. This bag looks very much like a standard polybag, but the main difference is that this very bag when dug in the ground will decay within a week or two same as a carrot or beetroot while a polybag decay time is 500 years.

Xmas tree lamps

The idea of a Xmas tree lamp was originated by Edward Johnson, Thomas Edison's friend. It was him who in 1879 hung a string of 80 hazelnut-sized bulbs on a tree. US President Grover Cleveland helped make the idea more popular by hanging Christmas tree lamps in White House in 1895.
